

2024-2025 SCHOOL YEAR RECLASSIFICATION GUIDELINES FOR TEACHERS

Qualifying credits for reclassification should be related to standards-based instruction, aligned with the school's design plan, and/or directly support the Hawai'i State Department of Education's (Department) initiatives.

General Information

Teachers may reclassify once per semester after earning 15 credits.

Qualifying credits for reclassification may be a combination of Academic credits earned through universities/colleges and/or Professional Development (PD) credits earned through the Department.

Only Academic credits and Department PD credits that have been pre-approved by an administrator and started and completed while employed with the Department may be submitted as qualifying credits.

Teachers may submit credits at any time and have these credit(s) banked toward their next reclassification, or they can wait until they accumulate 15 credits.

Academic Credits (semester hours) are university/college credits. Academic credits completed prior to July 1, 2021, must follow the criteria outlined in the 2020-2021 School Year Teacher Reclassification Guidelines.

Department PD Credits are PD courses reviewed and approved by the Office of Curriculum and Instruction Design (OCID) and are eligible for reclassification credit.

Credits that are not eligible for reclassification credit are:

- A. Credits taken while not employed by the Department;
- B. Academic Credits earned in Continuing Education Units (CEU); and
- C. PD Credits designated as "Non-PD hours."

Procedural Information and Roles in the Reclassification Process

- A. Teachers should seek guidance and approval from their Principal/Administrator prior to enrolling in any coursework (Academic and/or Department PD credits).
- B. The Principal/Administrator must ensure the courses proposed meet the Department's requirements for reclassification credit.
- C. After obtaining approval and completion of course(s), teachers should submit their reclassification forms and documents to the Teacher Reclassification Unit. Credits submitted are subject to the reclassification rules that were in place at the time the courses were taken. In addition, teachers should retain copies of all documents submitted and/or returned from the Teacher Reclassification Unit.

- D. Once forms and documents are received, the Teacher Reclassification Unit will review the forms for completion and check that the courses meet the Department's teacher reclassification guidelines. Credits approved for reclassification will be posted to the teacher's Personnel Form 16B. See page 4 for more details.
- E. The Teacher Reclassification Unit will process each request for reclassification/update to the extent possible at the time of submission. (e.g., a teacher submits a combination of Academic and PD credits but does not include official transcripts in their request. Due to the missing transcript, the Teacher Reclassification Unit can only process the PD credits.
- F. If information is missing or incomplete, the Teacher Reclassification Unit will notify the teacher. The requested information must be received before the reclassification deadline to be applied to the current semester. Requests received after the deadline will be applied to the following semester.
